

IMPROVEMENT OF TOBACCO TYPES

Department of Agriculture Expects to Produce Disease-Resisting Weed.

IMPROVE AMERICAN CORN

Drought-Resisting Qualities of Guatemalan Corn to Be Given Our Product.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—The attention of the Department of Agriculture is about to be directed to the improvement of the types of tobacco now grown in Virginia and North Carolina. The success of the export of the department in improving the tobacco grown in Connecticut has encouraged the belief that the smoking, chewing and export tobaccos of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky may be equally improved.

"I have no doubt we shall be able to accomplish great things in the way of improving tobacco," said Dr. Galloway, head of the Bureau of Plant Industry, to-day. "We shall work in connection with Commissioner Kolmer, in Virginia, and tobacco growers may rest assured we shall accomplish much for their benefit."

And then Dr. Galloway went on to tell how it was possible to breed tobacco which would have very broad and heavy leaves, with very fine stems and ribs. One interesting and highly valuable achievement of the department has been the securing of tobacco which will not grow suckers. This means a great deal to the tobacco grower, who has to expend so much time and labor taking the suckers from the tobacco plants, about as much as it is in breaking the tobacco plant to get up the weed.

Disease Resisting Tobacco.

"Have you ever found a tobacco the worm will not chew?" asked.

"Not yet," replied the doctor, "but we are making great progress in the direction of securing types of disease-resisting tobacco. I believe we shall eventually have a tobacco which will not have the suckers and which will not be subject to any disease. All the grower will have to do then will be to cultivate the ground about the plant, and kill the worms on it. Perhaps we may eventually find some insect or worm which will kill the tobacco worm."

The tobacco plant will then be greatly simplified, and the cost correspondingly reduced.

But Dr. Galloway did not give great encouragement to the idea of discovering an enemy of the tobacco worm which would do away with the farmer's back-breaking work of picking and destroying the pests. Possibly he had in mind the failure of the department to accomplish any very beneficial results from experiments with the Guatemalan ant, which was brought to Texas from Central America, and turned into the cotton fields for the purpose of living it was a war of extermination on the cotton boll weevil, which was destroying many thousands of dollars' worth of cotton every year. The ant, still eating up the cotton bolls, and the imported ant is still thriving in the cotton fields. The two insects appear to have got together on a harmony platform, and are dwelling side by side in pretty fraternity.

Dr. Galloway is greatly interested in experiments which are about to be undertaken by the department with certain specimens of Indian corn, which have recently been obtained from Guatemala. The ant thrives on such land, but he does not do well on the lowlands of Texas. He is so busy trying to keep from washing away, or drowning, that he has no time to devote to the pursuit of the weevil.

Speaking of Guatemala, Captain W. P. Kent, of Virginia, who has been appointed to the position of consul-general in that country, said to-day the expectations to leave for that country in the month of September. Captain Kent says he should like to be in Guatemala at this time, when there is a chance for some excitement growing out of the war between that country and Salvador and the United States.

Neurialgia and Anemia are Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

For nearly a generation the people of this country have known Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, during which time proof of thousands of cures by this remedy has been published and confirmed, and not a person has been harmed in the slightest degree by their use. I am not certain to opiate, narcotic or stimulant, nor any drug which could injure the most delicate constitution.

"For over a year," says Miss Charlotte Van Salisbury, of Castleton, N. Y., "I suffered from neurialgia and anemia. I was pale and thin, and we tried that and this, but nothing seemed to benefit me. One day I read in a newspaper about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I immediately gave them a trial. I soon felt much better, and my color had begun to return. I continued using the pills, and by the time I had taken eight boxes I was entirely cured."

Increase of National Banks.

At the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, there were 5,107 national banks in the United States, according to the report of the Comptroller of the Currency, just issued. The number has doubled since March 4, 1863, the date of the approval of the act authorizing the organization of national banks with minimum capital of $25,000. Since that date there have been organized 3,682 national banks, with a total capitalization of $173,773,300. Before the passage of the act alluded to there were 3,087 national banks, with a total capital of $669,020,475.

The increase is summarized in the comptroller's office covering the period since March 4, 1863, shows there has been a greater increase both in the number of banks and in the amount of capital employed in the Southern States than in any other part of the country.

Look at the increase in the number of banks which contribute an extraordinary portion of this increase. Texas has organized in the six years more national banks than any other State in the Union, and with greater aggregate capital than any State except Pennsylvania, the number of banks for Texas being 330, of which 224 were for banks with capital less than $50,000, and with aggregate capital for all of $12,500,000. Oklahoma and Indian Territory, considered as the one State of Oklahoma, organized a total of 276 banks with an aggregate capital of $7,810,000. This investment of capital in the State of Oklahoma was exceeded in amount by five States only—Pennsylvania, Texas, Ohio, New York and Indiana.

By geographical divisions of the country, the new capital added to national banking since March 4, 1863, was as follows:

New England States, $5,235,000; Eastern States, $2,990,500; Southern States, $48,810,500; Middle Western States, $33,904,600; Western States, $22,421,000; Pacific States, $12,147,800; total number of banks, 5,107; total capital, $1,737,773,300.

Virginia organized 50 national banks, with aggregate capital of $2,870,000; West Virginia, 53, with aggregate capital of $2,830,000; North Carolina, 25, with aggregate capital of $1,100,000.

MOVE TO STATESVILLE.

Hearing of Delegation by Secretary Shaw.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A delegation, consisting of the Mayor and other representatives of the city of Statesville, N. C., were given a hearing to-day by Secretary Shaw and Assistant Secretary Edwards, of the State Department, in connection with the removal of the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue from Asheville, N. C., to Statesville.

The interested collector, Mr. Brown, is a resident of Statesville, and he has recommended the removal. The department will send an agent to North Carolina to investigate the situation, and decision will likely be reached soon after the return to this country of Commissioner Yerkes, who is now in Europe, and who is expected back in about six weeks.

PRISONERS ARE PAROLED AND BONDS GOING UP

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Advices received at the Venezuelan legation here confirm the report that General Castro, in commemoration of his resignation of the presidency, has pardoned all offenders sentenced by the State courts. The prisoners have been completely cleared. The advice further states that the feeling of confidence which prevails at Caracas as a result of the recent events has been reflected in an appreciation of value of the Venezuelan outstanding bonds. The bonds have risen 5 to 7 per cent. President Castro has not yet formed his new Cabinet.

MAD DOG BOLTS INTO ROOM WITH WOMEN AT LECTURE

(By Associated Press.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 17.—"What to do in case a mad dog breaks into the room" was the unexpected problem, the solution of which Dean J. F. Downey demonstrated to his class in pedagogy at the State University Summer School to-day. He was lecturing on the subject of "How to handle a mad dog" when through an open door a mad dog burst into the room. Dean Downey luckily had in his desk a large revolver, and with it he killed the dog at the first shot.

SHORTAGE IS FOUND IN BARTLETT'S ACCOUNTS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—It was stated at the Treasury Department to-day that an investigation recently concluded of the accounts of the late Major George A. Bartlett, disbursing officer of the Treasury Department, shows a shortage of approximately $3,000. An amount of $14,000 of this amount, however, is said to have been innocently paid out on fraudulent vouchers presented by James W. Boyd, a clerk in the Marine Hospital service, who in September last was arrested and is now in jail pending his trial for misappropriation of government funds.

Although Bartlett was technically responsible for payments on Boyd's fraudulent vouchers, the shortage in his own office will probably exceed $19,000. The Treasury officials have no means of knowing just how long this shortage has been standing, but are inclined to the opinion that comparatively small amounts have been taken from time to time during a period covering several years.

Bartlett was taken ill and died while his office was being investigated. His shortage in full was paid by a bond executed by a surety company.
